

ERIC LOGAN, AIA

CURRICULUM VITAE

PROFILE

The American West serves as an important influence in Eric's work, whether through acknowledging the power of landscape, leveraging the ever-changing quality of light and its ability to shape space, or by adopting the simple honesty of vernacular architecture through form and materials. He is keenly interested in the relevance of modernism as it is adapted to a particular context; mindful that the solution is sensitive to place and thoughtful in execution. His work has received numerous regional and national design awards and has been in publications across the globe, including in The New York Times, Wall Street Journal, The Plan, C3, Luxe, and Wallpaper.

After graduating with a Master of Architecture degree from Arizona State University in 1991, Eric moved to Denver to apprentice with Urban Design Group. He completed his architectural internship at Blue Sky Studio and participated in Denver's urban renewal initiative, renovating loft buildings in the Lower Downtown district. In 1995 Eric returned to his home state to join CLB, where he is a partner.

Recognized by the American Institute of Architects as a "Citizen Architect" for contributions to his community, Eric was a founding member and served on the Town of Jackson Design Review Committee for 12 years. Eric chairs and participates in design awards juries, teaches and advises students at local schools, and lectures at design conferences.
